Woman's Tenderness and Love.

It has often been remarked, that in sickness there is no hand like woman's hand; not. A man's breast may swell with unutterable sorrow, and apprehension may rend his mind; yet place him by the sick couch he is the sundow rather than light of the sad light that watches it; let him have to count over the long, dull hours of night, and wait alone, elecpless, the struggle of the grey dawn into the chamber of suffering-let him be appointed to this ministry, even for the sake of the brother of his heart, or father of his being, and his grossor nature, even where it is more perfect will tire, his eyes will close, and his spirit grow impatient of the dreamy task; and though love and anxiety remain undisturbed, his mind will own to itself a creeping in of an irresistible selfishness, which indeed he may be ashamed of and struggle to reject, but which in spite of all his efforts, remains to characterize his rature, and prove in one instance at least, manif weakness. But see a mother, a wife, or a sister in his place. That woman feels no weariness, nor even forgetfulness. In silence, in the depth of night she dwells, not only presively, but so far as the qualified terms may express our meaning, joyously. Her ear acquires a blind man's instinct, as from time to time it eatelies the slightest stir or whistor, or the breath of the now more than loved one who hes under the hand of human afflictim. Her steps, as in obedicare to an impolse or a signal, would not marken a mouse: if she speaks, her words are a soft echo of natural harmony most features delicions to the sick man's ear, conveying all that sound can convey, of pity, comfort, and devotion; and thus night after night she tend- him, like a creature sent from a higher world, when all earthly watchfulness has failed, her eyes never winking; her mind never pulls; her nature that at all edier times was weakness, new gaming a superhuman strength and magnationty, both role i on the floor. herself forgotten, her sex abuse predomi-

The Lion's Strength.

The strength of the lion is very great .-

We are informed by Dr. Sparrman, that "this animal was once seen at the Cape to take a heifer in his mouth, and though the legs of the latter dragged on the ground, yet seemed to carry her off with the same case as a cut does a rat. u Distiller. We are indebted to our friend, J. M. Eels, of Marietta, Ohio, for the following graphic sketch. We are assured that the facts transpired substantially as narrated: "A Methodist elergyman who has been laboring in this vicinity, was not long since, preaching to his people on the miraculous power of the Apostles over the demoniso spirits of their day. As he was pursuing his theme, the antieuce were suddenly startled by a voice from some one in the congregation, demanding, in a half overu-"The speaker paused for a moment, and

> "The good pastor quietly returned to his desk and completed his discourse. After closing the services, as he was passing out of the church, the outcast distiller with an officer of the law, escorted our clerical. friend to the office of a magistrate, to answer for an assault upon the person of said distiller. After hearing the case, the magistrate dismissed the clergyman, and after fined him for molesting the services of the Sancinary.

"Since that day we believe he has never for a moment doubted the power of the Methodist preachers to cast out derils, at least within the limits of the Ohio Confer-she cannot endure to be reproved or criticised by him when others can hear it. Indeed it is most wrong in a husband thus to put his wife to shame; and we cannot help secretly admiring the spirit of that French woman, who, when her busband had thus wronged her, refused ever again to utter a word, and for twenty years lived in the house a dumb woman. We admire her spirit, though not her mode of manifesting it. Husbands owe the most profound respect to their wives, for their wives are the mothers of their children. Surgical Operation. A very interesting surgical operation took place on Friday last at the Bultimore Alms House. Drs. Keys and Amos, resideut physicians of the institution, amountated both of the diseased legs of an Italian named Antonio Pedro. The limbs were taken off just below the knee, whilst the pa tient was under the influence of chloroform, and in the presence of the visiting physicians. The patient shortly after sat up it bed and ate his dinner, and is now doing very well, with an excellent prospect of ul timate recovery. 🔌

----Blackwood on Barnam.

The most striking article in Blackwood, for February, is a review of Barbum's Autobiography, from which we gestract a few rentences that appear especially worthy of the consideration of the American public. of Barnum, the art cle says :

"By the way, we should like to know what kind of a State this Connectant really is. If we are to take Barunin's word for it, the division in which he and his were raised, was a mere colony of shirtness; every man, woman and child in it attempted to outwit, overreach, and defrand their neighbors. Our friends in America had better look to it in time, for if the statements in this book as to the tone of the moral per coptions prevalent among the bulk of themiddle classes are allowed to remain uncontradicted and unranamental-if Bar num's sketches of society are acknowle tred to be true-then they dare not himeafter take exception to the turshest and most unfavorable pictures which have been drawn. by European travelers. We say this in the most friendly spirit to America and the Americans: recollecting how often they have complained, with evident scremess, o being maligned and misrepresented. Wall then, we can assure them that this book of ; Barnum's which we doubt not will have a very considerable circulation in this conn try, is calculated to do them more harm than anything that was ever written by an

The New Pestage Law. Pre-payment of Postage .- On and after on Tuesday morning, bringing news of the 1st of April, letter postage will have to be prepaid. Letters deposited in post-offices York and Bish op Newman of Philadelphia, after Saturday evening last, on which the postage is not paid, will not be forwarded This is an important matter, and as in all probability, it will not be universally observed at first, some inconvenience and dishave taken the oath of allegiance to the new appointment will, of course, be the consequence. With a view to assist in remedying the anticipated evil, and to give the new law (an excellent one, by the way,) a fair start, a correspondent of the National Intelligeneer suggests the following precau-

> 1st. That a placard in large characters. should be prominently displayed at every post office that no letters can be received or forwarded unless the postage is first paid.

> 2d. That during business hours, when the post-offices are opened, the drop box should be closed, so that parties should be compelled to deliver their letters at the window. and thus afforci an opportunity for the postoffice clerks to inform those who deliver unpaid letters that it is necessary to prepay. Pre-payment, it will be borne in much.

only applies to post offices in the United States. Letters to foreign countries will be sent as usual. The Postmaster General has issued the following instructions to postmesters in relation to the new law: 1. The act of 3d March, 1855, making no provision for unpaid letters to piaces within the United States, on the same day following any such unpaid leaser or letters. being put into a post-office, the posteraster thereof shall post up conspicuously in his office a list of the same, stating that they are held for postage. If not attended to, such letters must be returned monthly to the dead letter office. 2. Letters part pail should be desperched charged with the additional postage due at the pre-paid rate, according to distance, established by said act, except when the omission to pay the correct amount is known to have been intentional, when they should be treated the same as as letters wholly un-3. It is proper to forward a letter when requested, in writing. When forwarded, no additional postage should be charged if the letter, contrary to its aldress, has been missent. If it has been sent according to its address and then forwarded, it must be charged with additional postage at the prepaid rate, according to distance established by the act of March 3, 1855, aforesaid. 4. Ship letters as they cannot be prepaid, and are not supposed to be embraced in the new act, will continue to be dispate hed agreeably to the provisions of the lifteenth section of the act of March 3, 1825. The single rate under the new law, for any distance in the United States not execeding 3,000 miles, wil, be three cents, and over 5,000 miles ten conts.

A Visit to the Battle Fields .- A correspondent of the New Orleans Picayune, at Brownsville, writes :

"I have just returned from a visit to the battle-grounds of Palo Alto and Resaga de la Palma, but scarcely a vestige remains to denote these fields, which reduced so much to the gallentry of our regular army. Ou picked up, which is the only indication that purpose of grazing the large herds which at present room ever it.

"At the Resona de la Palma the faint outlines of the redoubt which the Mexicans occupied on the west bank of the Resagn are still visible, but so overgrown with brush and undergrowth, that they can scarcely he followed. One or two trees still show marks of the strife, and a few shreds of old shoes and an occasional battered canteen are also to be found in the chapparel; but there is nought else to show that here was the scene of the most closely contested fights of the war, where bayonets were often crossed, and where hand-to-hand fights were frequent, as the scrittered combatants met beneath the shule of the sweet-scented mimosa or amidst the taughed brushwood."

High Prices.-The prices of all kinds of provisions seem to be on the advance. On chickens 75 to 57 per pair, eggs 16 cents per dozen, potatoes $1 25 per bushel, berring 31 per dozen, and mackerel 12; per pound .- Debaware Journal.
